

Research Seminars in

Emergency Medicine 2010

Application Deadline:
4-Nov-2010

Organized Conjointly by the
Hong Kong College of Emergency Medicine and
Accident & Emergency Medicine Academic Unit,
Faculty of Medicine, The Chinese University of Hong Kong

Introduction and Format

The seminars are intended to help participants design and carry out research projects in their own departments. These seminars differ from EBM workshops as they are intended to provide practical help to researchers starting a new project rather than training in critical appraisal. The seminars will consist of didactic presentations and discussion of research projects.

Objectives

- To encourage research in emergency medicine
- To assist investigators to carry out research
- To develop a local network of researchers in emergency medicine

Target Participants

Priority:

- Fellows of the College
- Higher trainees of the College
- Basic trainees of the College

Venue

Conference Room, 2/F, Main Clinical Block and Trauma Center, Prince of Wales Hospital, Shatin, N.T.

CME

Three CME points will be awarded for each seminar (max 12 points)
Participants need to attend 5 out of 7 seminars in order to receive a certificate of attendance.
